resource for the advanced placement course in u s history in fact many ap instructors use it as a supplementary text because it so comprehensively supports and addresses specific curriculum objectives for the course and exam about the test the advanced placement program is designed to allow high school students to pursue college level studies while attending high school the three hour five minute ap u s history exam is usually given to high school students who have completed a year s study in a college level u s history course the test results are then used to determine the awarding of course credit and or advanced course placement in college according to the college board students taking this exam are called upon to demonstrate systematic factual knowledge and bring to bear critical persuasive analysis of the full sweep of u s history this is why we make every effort to establish and build upon context for you rather than encouraging rote memorization of disconnected facts the ap u s history exam is divided into two sections 1 multiple choice this section is composed of 80 multiple choice questions designed to gauge your ability to understand and analyze U.S. history from the colonial period to the present. The majority of the questions are based on 19th and 20th century history. This section tests factual knowledge, scope of preparation, and knowledge-based analytical skills. You'll have 55 minutes to complete this section, which accounts for 50 percent of your final grade. Free response questions are designed to measure your ability to write coherent, intelligent, well-organized essays. You'll need to demonstrate mastery of historical interpretation and your ability to express views and knowledge in writing. The essays may relate documents to different areas. Analyze common themes of different time periods or compare individual and group experiences. Reflect socioeconomic, racial, and ethnic differences. A consistent 15-minute reading period followed by 45 minutes during which you must answer a document-based question (DBQ) which changes from year to year. Part B allows you to choose two of the topics given. You will have 70 minutes to write these essays. Free response section counts for 50 percent of your final grade. These topics are broken down into third political institutions, 1st social and economic change, 3rd behavior, and public policy, diplomacy, and international relations. Intellectual and cultural development. The time periods covered are as follows: pre-colonial through 1789, 1st 6th of exam; 1790-1914, 2nd 3rd of exam; 1915-present, 1st 3rd of exam. The review section begins with a concise yet thorough 230-page review of U.S. history. This section covers topics and historical time periods. The colonial period (1500-1763), American revolution (1763-1787), United States Constitution (1787-1789), new national (1789-1824), Jacksonian democracy, and westward expansion (1824-1850). Sectional conflict and causes of the Civil War (1850-1860), Civil War and Reconstruction (1860-1877), Industrialism, War, and the Progressive Era (1877-1912), Wilson and World War I (1912-1920), Roaring Twenties and Economic Collapse (1920-1929), Great Depression and New Deal (1929-1941), World War II (1941-1960), the Vietnam War, and Social Upheaval (1960-1972). Watergate, Carter, and New Conservatism (1972-2001). These sections are scored using formulas to calculate your raw score. The scoring method approximates the score you would receive if you were sitting for the actual AP U.S. history exam. The multiple-choice section is scored using this formula: (number right - number wrong) x 1.4 = raw score. The score is rounded to the nearest whole number. Each essay is scored by several graders. Each grader provides a score for the individual essays. The DBQ is scored on a scale of 0 to 15. The highest and lowest scores are concealed so that each grader is unaware of the previous graders' assessments. The essays have been graded completely. Additional tools are provided to prepare for selection tests, including behavioral skills tests such as situational judgment, in-tray exercises, and non-stop essay grading. This guide is designed to prepare aspirants for various selection tests administered by institutions such as Hudson Travailler in Belgium, the Civil Service Commission in the United States, and the Australian Public Service Commission. This book offers a comprehensive guide focusing on reasoning tests including numerical and verbal reasoning. It offers exercises developed in line with the test standards for 2023-2024. Detailed solutions, advanced calculation techniques, and tips for success are included.
